

THE PERFECT DAY AFTER LOCKDOWN |

QUESTIONS

THINK ABOUT THESE TO GET SOME IDEAS. DON'T WRITE ANYTHING YET, JUST IMAGINE!

How will you feel when you wake up?

What will you say to your family?

What will you have for your breakfast?

Which clothes will you put on?

Who will you go to see?

What will you do when you see them?

How will you feel?

Where would you like to go?

What will you bring with you?

What will you do when you get there?

Will you go anywhere after?

Where and what will you eat?

What will you do when you get home?

How will you feel at the end of the day?

EXAMPLE

READ THIS TO SEE WHAT IT MIGHT SOUND LIKE...

On the first day after lockdown, I will wake up with a huge smile on my face and I will scream “today is the day!” in my loudest voice. I’ll put on my best red, stripy top then rush downstairs and ask mum and dad if I can have my FAVOURITE breakfast... pancakes with Nutella! My parents will say “just this once, since it’s a special day”. What a special day it will be!

First, we’ll go to my grandma’s house (about a 5 minute drive away). When I see her, I am going to give her the biggest hug ever and squish her really tight. She will be really happy to see us because she’s been on her own for a long, long time. We’ll all be bursting with happiness! She’ll probably offer us a Jammy Dodger because she always has those in her biscuit tin. I bet mum will have two cups of tea! She loves tea.

After we’ve visited grandma, we are going to go the BEST place ever... LIGHTWATER VALLEY! I want to be the first person in the queue for the Ladybird ride. I will definitely make sure I don’t eat my dinner before I go on so I don’t get sick. I learned that lesson last time... Dad will take my big sister on The Ultimate (the huge rollercoaster) and I will be cross because I bet I STILL won’t be big enough to go on it. But we’ll have some sticky ice-creams with chocolate sauce on and that will cheer me up.

For tea, we will have McDonald’s as a treat. I have missed McDonald’s SO MUCH! What will I have? I will definitely get my favourite which is 6 chicken nuggets, chips and a strawberry milkshake. The queue will be huge but it will be worth it. We will probably have to wait a bit longer like we always do, because my sister always orders a plain burger!

When we get home, we’ll finish the perfect day by having a movie night all together. Mum and dad will probably fall asleep on the sofa because they will be really tired. After the film, I’ll go to bed with a happy heart and look forward to another day of fun in the morning.

WRITING TARGETS

THIS IS HOW TO MAKE YOUR WORK THE VERY BEST!

RED

- Remember all your capitals and full stops.
- Use a mix of long and short sentences.
- Use exclamation marks.
- Make sure all your sentences are in the future tense.

AMBER

- Use questions to add interest, e.g. 'what will I have?'
- Use time words to add more detail to your future tense, e.g. After... In the evening...
- Try to add in some speech marks.
- Use 'What a...' sentences

GREEN

- Start a new paragraph for a new time or place.
- Explore punctuation for effect, e.g. ! and ...
- Use brackets to add 'little extra ideas' into your sentence.
- Be confident switching between tenses at appropriate time, e.g. "I bet mum will have 2 cups of tea! She loves tea."
